OWNERS GIVE UP.

Proprietors of the McKeesport Tube Works Won't Try to Run Them. McKeesport, Pa., June 6.—No attempt has been made to start up the tube works today. The strikers are swarming around the works and depots. Every point is being watched by them, and trouble will surely follow any attempt to introduce new workmen or deputies. The eastern deputies expected by river or train at daybreak, did not put in an appearance.

When the first train arrived from Braddock there was a large crowd at the station to meet the officers, and when it was found they were not on board, the strikers dispersed and went to the mill entrance. The company's announcement which was posted and torn down by the mob last night calls for all employees who desire to work at the rate in force May 14, 1894, to apply before 7 o'clock Thursday morning, June 7.

Up to date not a man has applied for work and not a single piece of machinery in the immense mill is being operated. It is said the company will not try to re-sume for the present preferring to wait until the strikers volunteer to return. For the first time in many months the river pumps are at a standstill and all the fires have been drawn.

It looks as if the works were to be shut down indefinitely.

RAILROADS SUFFER AGAIN

Tracks Washed Out in Colorado by Another Big Rain.

DENVER, June 6.—Colorado railroads are again in serious trouble from floods. Rain fell in torrents last night upon the water sheds above Pueblo, Canon City and Colorado Springs, and in the Clear Creek region. Fountain Creek became rampant, and all the bridges and much of the railroad track between Little Butte and Pueblo were washed out, blocking the Denver & Rio Grande, Union Pacific, Denver & Gulf and Santa Fe trains. Between Salida and Canon City hundreds of feet of Rio Grande track were washed away. The Santa Fe has a washout at Colorado City. The Georgetown branch of the Gulf road in Clear Creek canon was covered with water, and the bridge between Santa and Burns Junction went out. The Burlington was compelled to abandon trains on the Lyons branch.

Front in Illinois.

ROCKFORD, Ill., June 6.—A damaging frost visited this section last night, corn and potatoes suffering especially.

MYRON REED IN DISFAVOR.

Denver's Most Noted Preacher May Have to Leave His Church.

DENVER, June 6.—Rev. Myron Reed, pastor of the First Congregational church, has been summoned by the board of trustees of that church to explain his expressions of sympathy for the strikers at Cripple Creek and condemnation of the deputy sheriff.

The sociological sentiments to which Mr. Reed has been giving utterance in his sermons of late has displeased many members of his congregation, and about half the audience walked out on Sunday to show their disapproval of his remarks.

KANSAS CROPS FOR MAY.

Wheat Seriously Injured, But Corn Is Doing Very Well.

The report of the Kansas state department of agriculture for the month ending May 31, just issued, says:

The month of May in some respects has been, for the state as a whole, especially as to wheat and oats, quite unfavorable, chiefly from frosts on the 18th, 19th and 20th, and lack of general and soaking rains. The principal damage was supposed to have been done to potatoes and corn, but both have by their steady growth and vigor since demonstrated that not a hundredth part of the destruction feared actually resulted from freezing.

Winter Wheat.

The condition of wheat is worse than one month before from 10 to 60 per cent, and there is every probability that 35 or even 45 per cent is not too large a figure to describe the general decline, which will include numerous counties, but a poor prospect before that now have practically none. Scarcely a fraction of the total damage has been by chinch bugs, reported as doing some mischief in various localities, it being accounted for by "dry weather."

Oats.

The conditions as to oats are almost identical with those of spring wheat. The stand is scattering, the plants feeble, and with a tendency to premature and very short heading.

Corn.

A good stand, good growth, promising condition and unusual freedom from weeds is the burden of information with reference to corn. Tremendously increased areas have during the month been planted to corn.

Potatoes.

In spite of considerable damage by frost potatoes are generally promising fairly well, and are free from weeds.

Fruit.

Frost damaged fruit of all kinds more or less, but to no such extent as was at first feared.

POPULISTS A TERROR.

J. Ellen Foster Says Their Doctrines are Subversive of Order.

Hamilton hall was crowded last night to listen to Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, the noted woman Republican.

When she came in the Morgan sisters were singing a lullaby. She said: "When I heard that beautiful song, I was forcibly reminded of the time when I held my own children in my arms and sang lullabies to them. I wrote to Elizabeth Cady Stanton and asked her how I could be the best mother. She said, 'be the best woman you can, and then you will be the best mother.' I did not expect that kind of an answer but I have found that it is true. I had not intended to say that in making a Republican speech but that song made me say it."

Susan B. Anthony: "That is the best kind of Republicanism."

"Have you heard from Oregon? women of Kansas," continued Mrs. Foster. "It is the first to fall under the tide of popular indignation."

Mrs. Foster stood on a rug near the front of the stage and she seemed to be uneasy. "Mrs. Johns told me to stand right here," she said, "and I can't say put."

After that she used the whole stage, walking from one side to the other as she became warmed with her subject.

"I have just come from Colorado. Some one commanded 250,000 men to quit work and they quit when they did not want to. Now that is an oligarchy within the state and it is dangerous. It is the outgrowth of that sentiment of the Democratic party that nobody is responsible to anybody."

"I do not judge the Democrats by the few nice ones I know, but by the fruits of the party, and they are horrible. Then you have another class here in Kansas called Populists. I do not say that they would shoot anyone in the back, but I do say that the talk they make, the road they follow, the principles they advocate are subversive of all government. It was Waite, the Populist governor of Colorado, who said that if a congress-man voted against the will of the people he should be hung to the nearest tree. You have a state officer here who said that if a certain thing didn't happen every palatial residence would be destroyed. [Applause.] (A voice): 'He never said it.'"

"Well, may the Lord forgive him if he did, and that reminds me of a story. Wesley once said of a woman in his congregation who gave him a great deal of trouble: 'The Lord may live in her heart but I don't want to.' So I say to you, the Lord forgive, but I hope you won't."

[Applause.]

Mrs. Foster talked two hours and held the large audience as few political speakers can.

POLICE COURT CASES.

An Examination for a Pension that Was Entirely Too Public.

John Grider and Sam Hancock were in the police court yesterday for tampering too freely with that which moveth itself aright. Grider was fined $5 the morning before for being drunk, which he paid; and in less than twelve hours he had a worse jail than his first.

Sam Hancock is an old soldier. He was also drunk. He wants a pension and Grider managed to convey the impression that he was a pension medical examiner. Grider took the old man out into his back yard in North Topeka and after he had taken all his clothes off proceeded to examine him to see if he was all right. It was only 6 o'clock in the evening and Grider doesn't even have a tight board fence around his place, so it was only natural that the women who live on either side should run for the police. Officers Hicks and Summers arrived simultaneously and made the arrests. Grider was fined $5 and Hancock was let off with $5.

A Drunken Duet.

Another drunken duet was gathered into the fold, and in some respects they were the most remarkable pair of drunks ever in the police court. They were Tom Wallace and Tom Shamasy, and they have only one pair of eyes, one pair of ears and three legs between them.

Tom Wallace is blind, totally. Shamasy is a deaf inmate of the Soldiers' home, who has only some respects. These two men in unison, for one possesses the faculties the other is devoid of. Wallace had plenty of money and a great thirst, but being blind, couldn't find a joint. Shamasy was broke, but he could tell a joint as far as he could see it, so he bought the staff and they drank it together. In the police court Shamasy looked at the court, but Wallace did all the hearing. Both men were discharged on the usual promise to get out of town.
